OUTRAGING THE DEAD

By Ferdinand M. Isserman

A group of men arrayed in the official regalia of an imported secret organization, known to be hostile to Jews and Catholics, placed a floral wreath in front of the Cenotaph, the memorial to the dead heroes of the last war which guards the entrance of the City Hall of Toronto. For this they had previously received the consent of the Toronto municipal authorities. The Cenotaph is a memorial to the dead of all creeds and races and religions, who made the supreme sacrifice. Jew and Catholic slumber side by side with Protestant in Flanders fields. An organization inimical to Catholics and Jews has no moral right to bring its tribute to a sacred shrine like the Cenotaph. An organization hostile to the homes which Jewish and Catholic dead left behind outrages the dead when it insolently parades its hostility ever before the memorial, which is the symbol of the sacrifice of all creeds, races and religions. It is sad enough that in this enlightened century, when great teachers and leaders are preaching fellowship and brotherhood, clandestine organizations flourish which promote and exploit racial and creedal differences. It is sad enough, that men band together against their fellowmen, that men preach hatred and intolerance and prejudice. But when even the dead are insulted, when Jewish and Catholic soldiers who fell fighting Canada's battles, are offended on Canada's soil, then we must rise in mighty and thunderous protest, then the limits of human tolerance are even exhausted. We saw no pen raised in protest, we heard no voice raised to object. The press was silent, and glossed over the incident. The irony of it all is that these men purport to be defenders of the British Empire, self-appointed guardians of its interests, and secret champions of its rights. We are reminded of the saying of the cynic, "God save us from our friends." God save Great Britain from such friends, who sow the seed of religious racial prejudice. Great Britain's future depends on her ability to retain the loyalty of the hundred millions of people under her sway. Among her subjects are Catholics, Protestants Jews, Hindus, Mohammedans and Buddhists. In fact almost every religion known to man is represented among British subjects. Great Britain, therefore, cannot afford to have the races and religions under her sway hostile and antagonistic towards one another. If the empire is to endure it must be able to win the loving loyalty of its diverse nationalities and religionists. That love and loyalty, intolerance and bigotry will rout, while fellowship and sympathy will strengthen. Organizations which capitalize religious hatred are not only anti-spiritually, but are threatening the disruption of the Empire. Those who have Great Britain's welfare at heart will spurn them. And certainly, when such organizations flout the sacrifice of Jewish and Catholic dead, then they merit the scorn and contempt of all right-thinking citizens.

AN ISRAEL ABRAHAMS MEMORIAL

By Herbert J. Samuel

The London Jewish Chronicle always enjoys its Purim fun, and so we are not quite sure whether the editorial in its Purim number, on "An American Opportunity," is to be taken seriously or not. The editorial in question refers to the announcement by the University of Cambridge that the Readership in Rabbinics at that institution, rendered vacant by the death of Dr. Israel Abrahams, is not to be renewed unless an endowment is provided to produce at least an annual income of eight hundred pounds. The Jewish Chronicle throws out the suggestion that the necessary amount should be contributed from America, on the plea that such a fund is not likely to be raised in England. "We Jews here (in England) are too poor—in imagination we mean; and the purpose is not one which lends itself to long and tedious begging, guinea by guinea." One cannot help feeling that the Purim joke of the Jewish Chronicle is striking a rather damaging blow at English Jewry. The prestige of the Anglo-Jewish community is not enhanced by its inclusion in the ranks of those who, like the impoverished Yeshivas of Europe and Palestine, come begging to America for funds. Yet it would be a thousand pities if the Readership in Rabbinics at Cambridge were to be discontinued. Are there enough English Jews in Canada willing to make a substantial contribution towards maintaining the Jewish prestige at Cambridge, and to help remove the somewhat unfortunate stigma placed upon Anglo-Jewry by the well-meaning Jewish Chronicle? An Israel Abrahams Memorial Readership in Rabbinics would be a pleasing tribute to the memory of one of the most distinguished Jewish scholars of this generation, who did more than any scholar whose name we can recall to popularize Jewish knowledge and learning. Dr. Abrahams has placed the ordinary Jewish reader under a great debt, so perhaps the Jewish Chronicle's Purim joke offers a splendid opportunity. Will sympathizers communicate with me?

LORD ALLENBY

The name of Lord Allenby, who is at present visiting Canada, stands high on the roll of military achievement. The campaign for the liberation of Palestine which he conducted was one of the most brilliantly conceived and most brilliantly executed in military history. He was selected for the command by reason of his marked ability. Had he remained at his post in France he would have added to the distinction he had already gained as an able and successful soldier. But the happy fate that transferred him to the Palestinian command has won him undying fame, for it is not bombast to say that his association with Jewish history assures the immortality of his name. The Jewish people studies and commemorates history as no other people. The conquest of Palestine will ever loom great in Jewish history, and that event is inseparable from the name of Allenby.

SINCLAIR LAIRD ISSUES CHALLENGE

Dean Sinclair Laird, of MacDonald College, has agreed to back up his recent statement to the press that persons desiring can make a comprehensive trip across Canada and back for no more than $330 by chartering a special train for the purpose of accommodating all those who may be inclined to accept his challenge. He avers that the trip, which provides for stop-overs at all points of interest between Toronto and Victoria, westbound via the Okanagan Lake and eastbound by the main line, including rail and water transportation, meals, accommodation and all other expenses, can be made as comprehensive as could possibly be desired, and he is prepared to accept the amount stated, $330, as a blanket charge for all expenses.

The Canadian Pacific Railway, which is interested in several all-expense tours this season, is acting as his booking agent Dean Laird plans to leave Toronto July 19. The route he has planned is via Port Arthur and Fort William, Winnipeg Beach, Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary, Banff, to Windermere across the Rockies by auto, to Kootenay Landing thence by steamer to Nelson and through the Doukhoubor country to Hope and Vancouver. The return from Victoria will be made via the Selkirks and Rockies, and stopovers have been arranged, among other places, at Lake Louise and Devil's Gap Camp, Kenora. A trip across the Great Lakes to Port McNicoll, thence rail to Toronto will terminate the excursion.

Dean Laird contends that this trip will not be an experiment as he has made two previous trips of like nature as organizer of teachers' tours. This trip he is throwing open to all and sundry, the only stipulation being that members of the special train party be chosen as being compatible with the whole.

Apply Dean Laird, MacDonald College, Ste. Anne de Bellevue, or any Canadian Pacific Agent.

A spoonful of Lux softens the dishwater, works wonders in cleansing and leaves the hands smooth and presentable.

every friday

Apparently there is a movement on foot in the States to establish a national synagogue in Washington, D.C., and numerous daily newspapers where Jews have made their strongest impress on business life, are saying what a nice thing it would be for the Jews to build themselves a church there. The New York American promises them "the sympathetic approval of Americans of goodwill, irrespective of race or creed." It stresses the "fitness of locating the world's most famous synagogue in the capital of the nation which they love and in which they are prospering under general respect and tolerance." The Chicago Evening American asks: "What more fitting than a national shrine of Jewry in Washington, where they may often gather, the eminent men and women representative of that religion, and representative of the broad-minded country in which we live and which we all love—no matter what our creed or belief?" The Baltimore American almost complains that in Washington, where other religious bodies have built churches or other institutions, "the picture is incomplete without something that will typify Judaism, oldest of them all, and at the same time represent the spiritual aspirations of a group, which, guarding its religious heritage and preserving a solidarity that is both amazing and inspiring, is thoroughly American."

Of course, what is meant by this oily palaver is that certain Jews, among whom are many wealthy advertisers in the daily press, want a national synagogue in Washington and that, with nothing to lose by it and a lot to gain, the daily newspapers applaud the idea as a great idea, one to be carried out splendidly and with despatch. If the idea is carried out, it will be done splendidly, that goes without saying; and if the Jews want it done that way it will be done with desptach, too, but the truth is that American Jews don't need more synagogues. They have too many now.

Synagogues are not always built because people are destitute for a place to worship. Synagogues are frequently started on impulse because it develops in some of the older congregations that there is not enough room for any more office-holders or because those already in office are too content to hang on smugly for life as though by divine right of bill-payers. They are often built with an eye on Rosh Hashonah and Yom Kippur crowds and sometimes because a few men got sore at some other schul. Practical business men think it a bad mistake to put up a building which is likely to see little use, but they don't hesitate, once the idea takes root, to put up a massive temple or synagogue in which Friday night or Sabbath morning congregations are lost in a sea of empty seats. There are so many synagogues with too few members trying to pay off mortgages all out of proportion, and being far more concerned about it than about the glory of God.

In a certain city there is an architectural gem of a synagogue which cost $80,000.00 to build twenty years ago and which took a decade to pay for. It has stained-glass windows and carved wood and on the high holy days is packed to the point of suffocation with people who resolve to go to temple every Friday night thereafter. On Friday evenings in good weather the congregation averages about twenty, and this is no reflection on the rabbi or his preaching ability. Saturday morning services have been discontinued long since because the attendance dwindled from a few old men and women to none of either. The building is all front and no back; for the religious instruction rooms were made with what was left over fron the show part. They are ridiculous on the face of it in comparison with the auditorium. They are poorly lighted, furnished with folding chairs and manned by a group of volunteer teachers among whom the turnover is continuous. Is there any connection between the small, religious-instruction rooms of the last generation and the straggling congregations of the present? If the Jews need to build anything more they need to build schools of instruction in connection with their synagogues or else open up the auditorium and let the children in the parlor so that it may see use commensurate with its cost.

A national synagogue in Washington would be just one more beautiful structure for Jews to point to with pride—just one more beautiful empty one. If it will be truly representative of what is going in American Judaism, it will have to be dotted with interested Gentiles and a few Jews on Fridays and jammed to the doors on high holy days with ticket-holders. There is always room in Washington for another expensive, magnificent building, but if a synagogue is to be built there, let it be done by such wealthy ones as like to put up monuments of stone. If they want to complete the picture of Washington's institutions by something that will typify Judaism, let them be the ones to pay for it. Comment in the newspapers, of which they are the main advertisers in many instances, rumble like the beginnings of a campaign for funds from all over, heaven forbid. In case it is, a national synagogue in Washington should begin right now to be regarded as a superfluity.

NATIONALIZATION OF JEWISH SCHOOLS IN TURKEY

The Department of Public Instruction of the Angora Government issued an order that beginning with the new school year, Turkish is to be the only language of instruction in the first two preparatory classes of the Jewish schools. The order will become applicable to the third class next year and to the fourth class the year after, so that within the next few years Turkish will be the only language of instruction in the Jewish schools.

The commission of thirteen members that was elected to introduce the reforms in the office of the Chief Rabbinate in Turkey has concluded its work. The main point in the plan is to propose a secular Council which shall administer all Jewish communal affairs as distinct from the religious affairs of the community. A committee of three has been designated to proceed to Angora in order to obtain the sanction of the Government for this new arrangement.

Moslems are to take the place of non-Moslem workers in all departments of the Department of Commerce. Many Jews, Greeks and Armenians will thus be thrown out of employment.

NORTHERN ONTARIO CANADA

Northern Ontario, now open for settlement in 160-acre blocks at fifty cents per acre, contains millions of acres of the finest agricultural land in the world. Its resources in lumber, minerals, water power, fish, game and scenery are immense. The land calls for men to cultivate it, and in return will give health, comfort and prosperity.

What settlers say of the soil, climate, farming and forest life, is told in a most attractive booklet issued under the direction of the Honourable John S. Martin, Minister of Agriculture for Ontario. Full instructions in regards to acquiring a title to these rich agricultural lands are also given.

For free copies write: H. A. MACDONELL, Director of Colonization, Parliament Buildings, Toronto, Ontario.

Rabbi Samuel's Editorials

General Allenby's military despatches are of the same stuff as the records from which the prophets of Israel compiled their histories. He has written himself into Jewish history in glorious pages, for in time to come the narratives that will stir the Jewish imagination on its festal days, and the songs of praise that will resound through the streets and broad-places of Judaea Restorata, will honour the name of Allenby as the Maccabaeans are remembered to this day. We can not, however, refrain from expressing a feeling of regret, even though we may thereby be transgressing the canons of courtesy due to a guest. Lord Allenby has earned and won the admiration and gratitude of the Jewish people for all time to come. But the Jewish heart has not opened to him. Our heroes should have our love as well as our admiration, but Lord Allenby does not seem to have succeeded in winning the affection either of the soldiers who served under him in the Jewish battalions or of the Jewish population in Palestine whom he liberated from the oppressor. His campaign was a glorious one. It was the work of an inspired hero deeply imbued with the sanctity of his epic task, fully conscious of the destiny that had led him to follow in the paths trodden by the immortal warriors of God's people. He recovered the land with less destruction than had been wrought in any of the other theatres of war. True, the Turks showed more derech eretz for the ancient hallowed and historic sites, Christian as well as Moslem, in Palestine, than did the Germans in Europe. But the British under Allenby wrested the land from a stubborn foe with practically no trace of the usual ravages of war, and marked their progress by immediate signs of civilization and restoration. His victories meant the realization of Israel's dream of ages, yet the Jewish heart has not opened to him. The military commander, stern and unyielding of necessity, occupied with the grim duties of war and all it involves, is not always able to give expression to the softer side of his character. The nature of his task and the responsibilities that accompany it often call for the suppression of the kinder self. Even so, military commanders do inspire love.

There is no doubt that the British military administration in Palestine was hostile and unwarrantably unjust to the Jewish battalions. The trial of Jabotinsky and his comrades was a fierce and unBritish act of predetermined injustice. The obstacles placed in the way of the returning Jews during the military occupation were contrary to the expressed undertakings of the Government in England, and the treatment generally accorded to the Jewish population was not in harmony with our ideas of the British military system. Was Lord Allenby responsible for this? Was he unsympathetic to the Jewish cause, or was he merely indifferent? He was undoubtedly surrounded by a staff into whose ranks seems to have been concentrated an unusual number of men whose anti-Jewish prejudices distorted all ideas of British fair play and good sense. These are hard words and perhaps unjust as regards Lord Allenby personally. But they voice a very general impression. While no suggestion of unBritish conduct has ever been imputed to him directly, the impression stands out that the great hero to whom the Jewish people owe so much has not won his way into their affections. This is a profound pity, for the name of Allenby is a great one in Jewish history. In welcoming him, let us express the hope that before it is too late the occasion will arise that will definitely remove all doubt and enable his memory to "shine forth as bright as the firmament," honoured, respected and loved by the Jewish people whose great hero the God of Israel destined him to be.

The proposed conference of representatives of Jewish religious communities in Soviet Russia, which was to be held in Leningrad in the middle of this month, has been indefinitely postponed.

A RINGING DECLARATION

We are happy to record, when on all sides the tide of prejudice seems to be rising, the declaration of a Toronto judge in a law suit of a Jewish couple and a negro physician who were suing the Royal Connaught Hotel of Hamilton for refusal to serve them. The plaintiffs maintained that they were discriminated against for religious and racial reasons. The hotel manager declared that he did object to serving negroes, but denied that he objected to Jewish patronage. The judge rules that the plaintiffs, had they been able to prove their case, would have been entitled to damages. He added the ringing declarations that in Canada no hotels may refuse to serve patrons for religious or racial reasons. (United States hotels, please copy.) We believe that Jews should have sufficient of pride to stay away from hotels where they are not wanted, and have no sympathy for those who are snubbed when they push their way to institutions where they at best are tolerated. Yet we rejoice in the declaration of a judge, who not awed by the waves of bigotry, speaks the good old-fashioned doctrine.

PANTAGES

The most thrilling horse races ever filmed are those featured in "The Million Dollar Handicap" which comes to Pantages Theatre next Saturday.

From the very start the human qualities of the story are engrossing and when the "parade to the barrier" comes you are ready for the greatest race of your life—and what is more, you get it. Some of the nationally famous jockeys are mounted in this sequence and Vera Reynolds, the only girl jockey in the track—rides a race that thrills.

Edmund Burns, Ralph Lewis, Tom Wilson, Ward Crane and Clarence Burton are in the supporting cast.

A programme of five excellent vaudeville acts to be presented in conjunction will be headed by "Animated Youth," a lavish programme of music, songs and dances by the Oxford Four, a good-looking and clever group of artists of extraordinary talent.

Sir Sidney Lee, regarded by many as the foremost Shakespearian scholar of our times, died last week at the age of sixty-six. Besides writing several books on the literature of the Elizabethan period, he edited the British "Dictionary of National Biography," and was later entrusted with the writing of the official biography of King Edward VII. Sir Sidney was a Jew—originally his surname was Levy which he changed to Lee—but he took no interest in Jewish affairs.

SHALL FEDERATED JEWISH FARMERS DISSOLVE?

Editor,
CANADIAN JEWISH REVIEW:

The time has arrived when we, the Federated Jewish Farmers of Ontario, have taken possession of our farm, but we have no implements or seed with which to commence actual work. After eighteen months of appealing to the Jewish people, they are not the least bit interested in farming or in helping those who do want to become farmers.

There are a number of men who were about to be deported if our Association had not come to their assistance and promised the Immigration Department that we would take them on our farm. We have also got permission from the Department to bring in men from any part of the world providing we assist them to become farmers. We have called several meetings during the year and brought to the attention of the Jewish people that this is the only solution to the present situation, but they have done very little to help the farm movement.

We have a large number of applications from men in various parts of Canada, who are tired of peddling and shopkeeping and would willingly take a course in farming. We also have applications from people scattered throughout various European countries who will guarantee to take up farming in Canada, but with the funds we have on hand we can do very little to help any of them.

As it stands now we will be forced to write the Government that the Jewish people are not interested in their own people's welfare to this extent, and we will be forced either to lag or to dissolve our association.

I would like to ask some of our philanthropists who are doing a great deal of work for almost any cause in the city or overseas if they are satisfied that the Federated Jewish Famers should dissolve, or would it be painful for them to see the farm purchased for such a great cause grow wild? Would it not be a great injury to our prestige and our name in Canada?

We must not forget for one moment that at a time when selected immigration is demanded and only farmers are allowed into this country, that the Jewish people have refused the assistance offered them by their fellow-farmers in this country, and in so doing are hurting themselves.

We have decided again to appeal to every Jew through your columns to come and help us carry out our plans. We meet every Sunday, at 2 p.m., at the Labour Lyceum, Spadina Avenue, Toronto, and will be pleased to welcome anyone wishing to attend. I want to thank the editor of THE REVIEW for past favours and trust you will print this letter.

M. SAXE,
President.

Georgetown, Ontario,
March 12, 1926.

FROM A LOVING FRIEND

Editor,
CANADIAN JEWISH REVIEW:

The first paragraph of your editorial of March 5 is certainly to the point. There is indeed a great scarcity of serious articles, articles worth while reading, in these English-Jewish weeklies; in that matter I entirely agree with "numerous willing critics."

It would not matter so greatly if so many names and so much news of trivial doings were recorded, provided that some articles of political, literary or other worldly interest were also to be included. Surely weekly journals containing only news of social doings, even if they are about Jewish life, and absolutely devoid of any other matter of interest, cannot appeal to any intelligent subscriber. They certainly do not appeal to me, but I continue to subscribe to your "weekly" in the hope that something of interest may begin to appear regularly.

The rest of your long editorial of March 5 is to me a lot of silly, purposeless and wasteful discussion—not worth the ink used to print it.

Yours sincerely,
S. A. KORENBERG, M.D.

"Open, Sesame"

ALI BABA murmured the magic words, the cavern door swung open and costly treasures lay at his feet.

You, too, have an "open, sesame" to the treasures of the world. It is advertising.

Read the advertising and you open the door to countless comforts and conveniences you otherwise would miss. For advertising will spread before you the product of fields, looms and factories the world over—things that make life easier, happier, more interesting and more fruitful for you and your family.

There is no questioning the real benefits that come from regular and systematic reading of the advertising columns. No other one thing will give you such economy and keen satisfaction in buying.

Advertising is far too important to be overlooked.

Read JEWISH REVIEW advertisements and profit from the dividends you secure by patronizing the concerns who will give you the courtesy and value which you and your dollars deserve.
